Mold Remediation...A Practical Approach

Craig's presentation will cover the history of mold, mold remediation and technical aspects including sources of mold, health effects, worker protection, remediation guidelines and recommendations for conducting an effective assessment and remediation project. Craig will also discuss the selection process for contractors (qualifications, training) to ensure the success of your mold remediation project.

About Craig:

Craig is the President of CRAL Contracting, Inc. He was a Vice President with a National Environmental contracting company prior to starting his own local company CRAL. Craig has managed multi-million dollar mold and asbestos projects across the nation. His company has been recognized as a local economic champion and Craig is currently a "40 under 40" honoree. CRAL has grown over the past five years into a corporation 50 employees strong with offices in Rochester & Syracuse. CRAL specializes in Mold Remediation, Asbestos Abatement, Building Science Investigation and overall indoor air quality in both the commercial and residential markets.

TELEWEB EVENT – MORE BELOW

OUR SECTION IS HOSTING THE FOLLOWING TELEWEB:

Ergonomics—the Workplace and Aging: Strategies for Minimizing Incidents and Accidents

February 13, 2007, 2 PM at Theater On the Ridge, B-28 Kodak Park

This upcoming TeleWeb addresses two top issues facing organizations today - the aging workforce and ergonomics issues! Learn from AIHA's experts on February 13, 2007, in this NEW TeleWeb, "Ergonomics - The Workplace and Aging: Strategies for Minimizing Incidents and Accidents". Get critical information on ergonomics and better understanding of aging workers needs. Plus, learn to identify and implement targeted control strategies that will reduce your organizations workforce accident and hazard and hazard incidents.

Jerome J. Congleton, Ph.D., P.E., C.P.E and Pamela Ferrante, CSP, CHMM, will offer their combined experience to provide you with the tools to:

- ~ Develop a working definition of ergonomics
- ~ Identify the health benefits of proper ergonomics
- ~ Cite key functional areas where the challenges are apparent
- ~ Categorize common causes of pain and advise workers on established remedies
- ~ Serve the aging workforce by understanding statistical measures
- ~ Apply unique workplace solutions to functional areas
- ~ Modifying workplaces to accommodate aging workers and reduce the risk of accidents

Attendance is free. Certification points can be obtained by taking an exam after the Teleweb, and paying a fee of approximately $35.

Please confirm your attendance in advance with Rick Rote by Wednesday February 7th, 2007 (phone (585-295-6241) or at rrote@labellapc.com)
